Fun and Games at Prairie Day...

What a beautiful fall day for the 15th Annual Prairie Day festivities held Saturday, September 15, 2012, at Goose Lake Prairie State Natural Area and sponsored by our good friends at Midwest Generation in conjunction with National Prairie Week.

Over 300 visitors came to this educational event as the partners and friends brought the prairie to life with sounds, wonder, and wildlife of all kinds. From the Traveling Conservation Wagon to the auditorium performers, our guests experienced first-hand the sights and sounds of mother nature at her best.

CPO Dave Wollgast talks with visitors concerning the display

Jannifer Powelson began our day discussing and reading from her books on the prairie and forests. Dave DiNaso thrilled our audiences once again with his reptile friends and knowledge of their nature and Habitat. Lou Aiello continues to educate us on Indian Lore. How we love The Great Mistini performing magic to delight both our young and old. Judi Jacksohn, Prairie Partner, filled the wagons for interpretative prairie rides with Partner Bill Neese at the wheel. Our visitors supported us through our beautiful quilt raffle, autographed copies of Jannifer's books, and purchases from our gift shop. The coloring book project was well received.

Bill and Kim Manley once again filled the air with delicious grilled buffalo burgers, brats and dogs, making our Prairie Partner Combos a big hit with our guests. The afternoon was capped off With Beth Wagner's Scales and Tales performance bringing delight with her animals and interactions.

As we marvel at the growth of this event and the visitors who return to it year after year along with new Friends of the prairie, we must take time to thank all those who volunteered to help us with this event and to Midwest Generation for 10 years of support for the Prairie Partners and this event.

Park Notes:

The prairie looks beautiful. Our park staff is keeping the visitor areas ready, so why not plan an outing? There are many trails to choose from according to the length of trail you want to walk.

As the weather moves into fall and winter, remember to dress warmly as you venture out on the park trails.

Good walking shoes, a hat and a bit of water are a must. Yes you may bring the dog for a walk also, but remember to pick up after him/her and when you return from the prairie fields, check your pets as well as yourself for ticks and other varmints..

Reminder: No motorized vehicles are allowed on park trails.

Clothing & Hats commemorating the Prairie Park and Hand-woven Rag Rugs.

2012 Remembered...

When you realize the cutbacks and shortages of employees that most of the state parks are experiencing, and the fact that many citizens are cutting back on volunteering, it is with a great sigh of achievement that I feel; honored that the Goose Lake Prairie Partners again had a very successful season in the activities that we sponsored at Goose Lake Prairie during 2012. Superintendent Joe Giacone and I thank the Partners for all the hours the members have given to the park and all the nice things that have resulted from their efforts.

Our weekend project of keeping the doors of the center open on Saturday and Sunday began in March and is wrapping up November 10th. This activity keeps the weekend volunteers in touch with the visitors that come to the park. It was fun to ask where they were from. The fact that many people from so far away stopped at Goose Lake Prairie is exciting.

Our first event brought the Partners out on a Sunny June Saturday to enjoy the delights of the Cragg Cabin Compound. Many friends joined us to make that day a success. In return for a small lunch, our crafters sat in our compound and visited with so many people explaining what craft they were presenting.

The Annual Photo Show drew in around 90 photos this year. (See report on page 4) Judges from Sandwich Camera Club spent about 2.5 hours judging the prints. We spent another hour preparing the exhibit. Our friends from the Morris Camera Club lent a hand to make another great exhibit in the visitors Center.

Jackie Martin, Chairman of the Prairie Day event, which was again sponsored by our good friends at Midwest Generation, saw an excellent response to our programs (article on page 1).

The donations to the park have been astounding. (See Kudos on page 7) Prairie Partner meetings have been well attended, lengthy and rewarding as we try to administer our funds in the best way possible, to add to our visitors knowledge of prairie and nature.

Monarch Migration at GLPSNA

Marsha Dabrowski and Eric Thiele, of Naperville Illinois, contacted this editor September 16, to share an event at GLPSNA they witnessed in 2010. It was a migration of Monarch's at Goose Lake Prairie. The event happened 2 years ago—September 14, 2010 around 6:45 p.m.

“After re-watching, I realize the quality of the video / lighting really is pretty poor. Gosh darn it, my iPhone isn't much of a camcorder ;-)

“But I cannot tell you how excited we were to witness this localized migration—which we certainly haven't seen but that one time.

“How did they all know where to go?

“And at the same time?

“The convergence targeted a few branches of a single cottonwood.

“For us at least, it was quite magical. We've returned on the same day in subsequent years hoping to see the same thing — but so far, no dice.

- <http://youtu.be/HhfKOW7mAtl>

A second contact with them produced this added response:

“We just got back to Naperville after a late afternoon visit to see if the Monarchs would be doing their thing again this year. I guess the drought has impacted them terribly. I think we saw a mere 10-15 in a 90 minute visit.

“Well - as any good Cubs / Sox / Bears fan would say - ‘maybe next year.’ “

6th Annual Nature Photography Contest and Exhibit

BEST OF SHOW & BEST OF BLACK AND WHITE:
“Grey Bells” By Denise Rogers, Seneca, IL

The amateur photo contest is held every August at the Goose Lake Prairie State Natural Area on Pine Bluff Road at Jugtown Road in east Grundy County. It is orchestrated by the volunteer organization, Goose Lake Prairie Partners, with a great deal of assistance from the Morris Camera Club.

Photo entries are to depict the flora, fauna, and natural environment of the state of Illinois. Ninety-two prints were submitted on Sunday August 12th at Goose Lake Prairie Visitors Center on Jugtown Road. The majority of participants were from Grundy County.

Judging for this 6th Annual Nature Photo Contest was held Friday evening (August 17) by a panel of experts assembled by the Morris Camera Club. We thank them for lending their time, equipment and talents.

Winners were announced Saturday morning, and all the photos were on display at the Visitors Center through the weekend. “We are excited by the response to the contest this year”, said Goose Lake Prairie Partners President Susie Johnson. “The quality of the entries this year was outstanding.” The response by the public was very positive, as the visitor count at the Center was up 75% over a normal August weekend. Our visitors were amazed at the professional quality produced by our local amateur photographers.

The Goose Lake Prairie Partners thank the Morris Camera Club members who have faithfully lent assistance to our photography project and a special thank you to Denise Rogers, John & Betty Zappia, and Brittany Benson.; and also the park staff, Art Rohr and Supt. Joe Giacone. We would also like to thank our contestants and hope they return next year.

KUDOS

- We would like to thank Bill Helmick, from Elmhurst, IL for many years of service to the park, for the many slides and photographs he added to our files over the years, and, more recently, for the books and papers that he has donated. Bill was one of the first Prairie Partners back in the 1980s and has kept the park in his thoughts, often brought handouts for the visitors. His thoughtfulness has been greatly appreciated.
- From another donor, we received a computer set up to store our library, Tallgrass back issues and nature publications. We are hoping to use this in our reference work as we help our visitors do research. We also received a monetary gift to the Partners to be applied to an item for use in the Visitors Center and for our educational programs.

Students admire and touch the Albino Python displayed by Dave DiNaso at the 2012 Prairie Day.

Gifts To The Park Are Tax Deductible.

Goose Lake Prairie Partners are looking for a few new items to add to the visitors center as well as to the park itself. If you or your organization is looking for a special project, why not consider the following items:

- 1.) Choose a park trail and monitor it to keep it pristinely clean for our visitors.
- 2.) Volunteer to work the Visitor Center Desk during the weekend to help keep the center open. Normally the Center is only open on weekends only if volunteers work the center.

3.) Consider purchasing an item for the park. At the current time our "Want List" includes:

- New mounted birds or mammals.
- Park benches to place around the park on various trails.
- New folding chairs for our events.
- New folding tables with plastic tops.
- Funding a mural for the Auditorium.

If you are looking for an interesting program for your club or group, why not consider a Nature Program? Call the Park Desk for more information.

- Purchasing a chain saw art piece to sit in Bird Corner.

Tax deductible gifts are recognized with a "certificate of gift" which can be used for tax deductions.

The Mission of the Goose Lake Prairie Partners

The mission of the Prairie Partners is to help the Goose Lake Prairie State Natural Area in the following ways:

To understand, maintain and attract the public to the park by producing various festivals, educational events, and displays centered around early life on the prairie and on the natural environment of the park.

To provide assistance and funds as needed by the park and its staff for equipment, supplies and other items for improvement and maintenance.

Monetary or Time Donations Are Always Welcome.

Text in this publication is the sole responsibility of the authors of the articles and not the responsibility of the Park or the Prairie Partners.

Prairie Partners Participate in the Natural Resource Tour

These students from Minooka were among the many to enjoy the beautiful weather during the Natural Resource Tour, sponsored by the Grundy County Soil and Water Conservation District for Grundy Counties' fifth graders.

Our young visitors were able to hear some local history and stories about pioneer living presented by Prairie Partner's "Grandma Jo" Fleming, be inside the cabin, and imagine what it was like to live 'back then,' in the early days of settlement here.

A sample of vegetables and grains such as the pioneers grew, and a few animal hides that could be exchanged for 'store-bought' items rounded out our presentation.

Anyone interested in a more relaxed visit is encouraged to come to Cabin Fest, held the Third Saturday (June 15th, 2013).

Our gift shop is expanding and offering more and more selections. With our new labeling system, we will much more accurately and more efficiently store our materials and help our visitors.

This winter, several members plan to meet in the center to make rugs and do crafts, work on our library, and redo the bulletin board displays. Perhaps the day you decide to visit us this winter, you will see the Prairie Partners in and around the center.

If you have any questions about our activities or would like to join us, please call the visitors center—815-942-2899.

We Hope to see you on the prairie ...
